Number of Relief Clients Ask Names Be Taken Off Rolls

The effect of the federal relief administration's campaign against chiselers on the relief rolls was seen today in Columbiana county with the announcement by Lisbon relief administration that three alleged chiselers have agreed to reimburse the relief office in Lisbon rather than face prosecution.

Along with other sections of Ohio, the county several weeks ago initiated a drive to eliminate those persons from relief rolls who had become from other sources.

15 Rounded Up

A total of 15 have been rounded up. It was announced in Lisbon, and three of the number who were mentioned by Prosecuting Attorney George Lafferty agreed to pay up.

The other cases are now pending, but decisions by the alleged chiselers are expected in the near future at conferences with the prosecutor.

Under federal relief regulations, persons accused of chiseling may be prosecuted on charges of obtaining money under false pretense.

The Lisbon relief office has reported that a number of names have been dropped suddenly from relief rolls in various sections of the county at the request of the individuals themselves.

Attorney Arrests Defeated Democrat

Oscar Glick, who was in charge of hearings in Miller's contest to oust Representative John G. Cooper, successful Republican candidate.

Miller was released on his own recognizance in police court, and will be given a hearing May 8.

Glick charged that Miller threatened to kill him, and had annoyed him constantly since the hearings because of delay in preparing the transcript, with which Glick said he had nothing to do.

Loan Is Made Here Under Mortgaging Feature of F H A

Announcement is made by the Farmers National bank of Salem that details have been completed for the first loan in Salem under the mutual mortgage insurance feature of the Federal Housing Act. It is believed that this is also the first loan of this kind to be recorded in Columbiana county.

The loan in this particular case was made to refinance the purchase of a home that had been bought on land contract and the purchased is thus enabled to adjust the amount of his payments to present conditions at a favorable interest rate.

The bank reports the receipt of several applications for loans to construct new homes and it is expected that a number of residences will be built this summer through the benefits of this new mortgage plan.

Civil War Veteran Doesn't Know Why He's 100 Years Old

HITLER TELLS VAST CROWD OF PEACE DESIRES

Million Persons Gather At Tempelhof Airport To Hear Fuehrer

THROUGH LASHED BY THUNDERSTORM

Nazi Chief Says Germany Wants Nothing From World But Peace

By GUENTHER O. BEUKERT. (Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.)

BERLIN, May 1.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler told more than a million people gathered at his feet in Tempelhof airport that Germany desires only peace with other nations.

"Just as we restored peace within Germany," he said, "we want peace abroad, because only then can our domestic work be a success."

Crowd Lashed by Storm

It was a cold, stormy day. The listening multitudes were lashed by a thunderstorm, but Hitler, bare-headed, stood high above them on a rostrum and pleaded for a closer union of the nation. His voice was husky but easy to understand as he spoke with solemnity through microphones which carried his voice to every section of the Reich.

"May other nations understand," said Hitler, "that the Germany of today is not the Germany of yesterday. Therefore, fellow citizens, I ask you to bind faster the band of the community. Do not forget that you are members of one people as ordained by God."

The Reichsfuehrer proclaimed that the German nation had "now become a new people."

"We are a people without raw materials, without colonies, without capital, without foreign bank deposits," he said. "We know nothing but sacrifice, small wages and high taxes, but we do have one thing, namely, our German people."

"We therefore tell other countries: 'Don't fear we want anything from you. We are proud enough to say that the highest thing we have is something you could not give us if you would, namely, our people.'"

Wants Germany Happy Again

"As leader of this people, I know of no more precious task than to make Germany happy again. Even though you foreign nations may offer me whole continents, I would rather be the poorest citizen here."

"With this people we will be able to fulfill the great task ahead. You may wonder why on a day like this, in such bad weather, you are, nevertheless, called together. The purpose is symbolically to show that we are not divided into city and country, into workers, farmers and tradesmen, artisans and students, but that we are members of one people united in the common duty to fulfill our task in the world with such COLUMBUS, May 1.—Increases of $1,131,803 in resources and $859,153 in deposits in Ohio's 458 licensed state-supervised banks for the first two months this year were reported today by Samuel H. Squire, state superintendent of banks.

Increasing Stability Seen

The statement, Squire said, "reflected continued expansion of resources and deposits" and "the increasing stability and soundness of Ohio's state-supervised banks."

Total resources of the licensed banks were $1,148,635,672 on March 4, an increase of $1,131,803 over Dec. 31. The numbers of reporting banks increased from 453 to 458.

Total deposits increased $859,153 to $981,387,629, a gain of $99,930,242 from March 31, 1934. The increase in total resources from March 31, 1932, was $97,285,929.

Savings deposits increased $8,694,697 from Dec. 31 and $39,854,899 from March 31, 1934, and time certificates of deposit increased $3,409,390 and $3,359,093, respectively.

The March 4 totals were $498,142,203 and $47,924,828, respectively.

A decrease of $102,421 to $47,793,662 was recorded in public funds on deposit for the first two months of this year. The March 4 total was $3,880,407 below a year earlier. Trust department funds on deposit totaled $23,874,642, a decrease of $716,647 from Dec. 31.

But an increase of $7,322,165 from March 31, 1934, an increase of $3,074,833 since Dec. 31, and a decrease of $3,215,303 from March 31, 1934, was shown in the total of $94,154,462 of all other deposits on March 4.

House Takes Up Income Measure; Senate Returns to Work

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, May 1.—The legislature went into high gear today for sine die adjournment May 23.

The house, having approved the bill to reduce the interest rates on chattel loans from 3 per cent to 2 per cent a month, took up the Ward income tax bill as a special order of business. The Ward bill would levy on incomes on a scale of 1 to 7 per cent.

Senate Back to Work

The senate, returning after a three weeks' recess, plunged into a pile of 30 bills sent over by the house during its absence and prepared for debate on proposals to aid public and parochial schools and denationalize colleges.

The biennial budget bill, which has tarried in the house finance committee for weeks and prolonged adjournment, also is expected to appear on the floor today.

While May 23 has been fixed for final adjournment, the house expects to recess from May 18 for a week so that clerical routine can be cleaned up.

W.C.T.U. MEETS AT COLUMBIANA

Reports of Various Activities of Organization Are Heard

COLUMBIANA, May 1.—The County W. C. T. U. Institute was held in the English Lutheran church here Tuesday. Features of the morning and afternoon sessions were reports of the department directors and a review of the activities of the mid-year state executive assembly held in Columbus April 2 and 3.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ferrall, president of the Columbiana union presided at the morning session. The committee of International Relations reported that a meeting of school students and young people from all parts of the county will be held at Washington, D. C. Friday, May 3, for the purpose of presenting a mandate to government officials requesting that reparations for war cease.

Several unions have conducted alcohol educational activities with good results, the reports showed. Anti-narcotic and morality groups have distributed leaflets among the schools and have held a number of educational meetings. The Christian citizenship director urged that a proposed amendment to the Ohio election laws, eliminating an unjust pledge for minor parties, be supported by letters from the W. C. T. U. to the state senator and representative.

Walker's new job is not his first under the New Deal. He previously served as executive secretary to the National Emergency council, then was entrusted with organizing consumer's councils under the NRA. His most recent federal job was to assist in setting up plans for better housing.

Despite the fact that he has been active in public affairs, Walker is one who shuns the spotlight and would prefer his status as private citizen to that of public official.

CHEESE CASE TRIAL HALTED UNTIL NEXT GRAND JURY MEET

Doctors Carry Relief Appeal To Washington

Charge Discrimination

Declaring that efforts at adjustment of fees for physicians handling relief cases have "met with rebuff" by the state relief administration, the Columbiana County Medical society, in a message sent directly to Federal Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins at Washington, today called for a prompt investigation and the establishment of a "new and equitable" medical fee program in Ohio.

Charge Discrimination

The society points out that "we know of no other group against whom such discrimination has been exercised" and calls the relief fee contract "unsound, impractical and unfair."

The text of the message to Hopkins follows:

"The Columbiana County Medical Society of the State of Ohio, begs to call to your attention the fact that the physicians in this county have received no compensation for services rendered to the unfortunate indigent sick, for any month during 1935. We have been offered 26 cents for a call, which does not cover actual cost of materials used."

"We feel that the entire contract set up under which physicians through a patriotic sense of duty have served relief patients is unsound, impractical and unfair. We know of no other group against whom such discrimination has been exercised."

"Our efforts at adjustment with the state relief administration have met with rebuff and have made necessary an action by the society to refuse medical care to unfortunate persons on relief rolls. We as an organization regret that this action has been forced upon us but see no alternative."

"The physician is deserving of compensation for service rendered the same as any merchant, tradesman or profession. It is our opinion that the system for payment of medical fees in the state of Ohio requires a new and equitable program and deserves your careful consideration and prompt investigation."

Mahoning Workers Get Pay Increases

Coinciding with the regular Mahoning county pay roll distribution for the last half of April yesterday, employees in the office of the county commissioners and 14 employees in the office of the county surveyor received pay increases totaling more than $3,000 annually.

The raises were put into effect upon the order of two county commissioners, who directly raised their own employees' wages and permitted changes in the county surveyor's budget to effect increases in that office. The changes follow general increases in other county departments three months ago and are restorations of cuts received during depression years.

Courthouse Bond Bids Are Rejected

LISBON, May 1.—The Pottery Bank & Trust Co., East Liverpool, successful bidders for one issue of $30,000 and another issue of $40,000 court house bonds, has notified the county commissioners of its refusal to take the combined issue of $70,000 at the rate bid by it. This has resulted in the commissioners adopting a resolution rejecting all bids.

It was indicated today that the commissioners would finance the total of the proposed bond issue themselves through county sources.

The one thing these old boys with a big navy are scared of is submarines. They are always claiming they are inhuman, and not a civilized mode of warfare. It would be rather interesting to see published the names of weapons that are considered a pleasure to be shot by.

PUBLIC HEALTH ON RELIEF

The state relief administration has informed Merle Paul, Columbiana county's acting relief director, that "no additional allowance will be made for back medical bills."

The decision is forwarded by Dayton H. Frost, chief of the field administration department and answers a plea by physicians who are members of the Columbiana County Medical society that they be placed on at least an equal footing with other individuals and agencies who are supplying services and merchandise to families on relief.

The physicians contend they are inadequately paid for their services and point out that in some instances the actual cost of supplies they use in relief cases is more than the remuneration received from the relief administration.

It is not the physicians' intention to make a profit on relief cases. They ask no profit at the expense of the unfortunate but merely recognition commensurate with that in other lines. There have been countless cases, not made public of course, in the last few years where physicians have willingly given their services gratis in this emergency period.

They will continue to care for needy families. No one will suffer from lack of medical care. Physicians themselves, as a whole, would be first to guard against such a contingency but neither they nor the needy they serve may be blamed for wondering if the importance of public health on the relief rolls is being sufficiently emphasized.

WHAT IS RECOVERY?

For five years this country has been yearning for recovery. Its greatest political and social problems entail methods of alleviating the hardships of depression and hastening the benefits of prosperity.

A significant agreement of political and business opinions now indicates that recovery in the near future is a reasonable possibility. Sunday night President Roosevelt said: "Never since my inauguration in March, 1933, have I felt so unmistakably the atmosphere of recovery." On Monday the National Association of Manufacturers stated the United States today is "closer to breaking the back of the depression than at any time since 1932."

Whether or not these prospects of recovery are illusory is a separate question. The fact is, there promises to be in the near future an upturn in the amount of employment and in the circulation of money. Statistically, that would mean recovery. It might not be sound, it might not be permanent, but it would be hailed as recovery if it occurred.

But would it be real recovery? What is real recovery?

There is no comprehensive definition of recovery. It is a state of business in which conditions are satisfactory. Obviously, it is never a static condition. In the first half of 1929 conditions were satisfactory, according to prevailing opinion at the time. According to prevailing opinion now, however, conditions in 1929 were not satisfactory, because they were unsound. They contained the trouble which was the immediate cause of the depression.

The United States may be on the verge of an inflationary boom. The phrase is not reassuring, yet it describes precisely what millions of Americans are thinking of when they yearn for recovery. A boom, if experience means anything, would be followed by the collapse of a boom. That would not be recovery, at least not after the cycle had been completed. By hindsight it would be as disastrous as the boom of the preceding decade.

In the early years of the present depression much time was given to studies of preventing what had just been experienced—an unreasonable inflation of values. Economists sought a way to level off economic peaks into the valleys which inevitably followed them. Relatively little is heard of those studies and investigations now. On the brink of what may be hailed as better times, the country is heedless of the danger of what inevitably follows excessive indulgence in inflationary prosperity, which seems to be the popular notion of recovery.

It now seems likely that congress will have to do some of its own thinking, much as we may all regret it—American Lumberman.

THE STARS SAY

For Thursday, May 2

A day of great importance, with possibly a re-orientation of all current interests, is presaged by the prevailing planetary influences. A change of far-reaching effect, bringing journey, new ties and associations is probable, but it involves hard work and application. Although ultimately propitious, this sudden upheaval may have surprising denouements and may cause anxiety at the start.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very important and surprising year, with many unforeseen upheavals, contacts and changes. Travel, new surroundings and interests, especially desirable in connection with combines, secret bodies or in diplomatic service, are seen.

A child born on this day may be ingenious, skillful in unusual ways, hard working and determined to gain its ends with shrewdness.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK May 1—West 42d, once the national high in cross streets, continues to run down at heel, especially that former glittering block between 7th and 8th avenues. Today it suggests the grand dame who has become the jetam madam, a painted and tarnished thing with a cackling laugh.

Scarcely anyone who has not seen New York for 10 years would recognize 42d. The only familiar landmark is the venerable New Amsterdam. Most other theatres have gone continuous burlesque and famous named cafes have become clattery cafeterias and coffee pots.

Cheap-john stores in a bannered tawdriness feature bankrupt and ordered-to-move sales. When there is no cop in sight, curb salesmen cry their gun-cracks from balloon ducks to Montana diamonds. Steerers for yodel traps slide up to passers-by with whispered implications. Also chivying ladies.

The entire block is a throw-back to Chicago's Clark street in its palmy hell-roaring days. Many hope the new movie theatre planned for the old Hammerstein site will tone up the area, and a contemplated banishment of the strip-act burlesque will help toward a renaissance.

The decadence of a New York street is always the old story of the rotten speck eventually destroying the entire barrel of apples. Some real estate owner violates a thoroughfare's tradition by letting down bars and the end is inevitable. It happened to Broadway, is happening to Fifth avenue and there are indications that Park is likely to suffer a similar fate. Some specks are visible.

Sinclair Lewis has rounded in from his winter hibernation in torrid Jamaica. And is likely full of plans to be off again. His creative mind works best in throes of constant change and excitement. Although he has a home in Bronxville and farm in Vermont, they have become mere stopping-off places for a week or so between long jaunts. Joseph Hergesheimer is another writing man forever settling down but overnight swings up the gang-plank.

From midnight to dawn telephone girls in the great New York hotels are pleasant buffers for loneliness. Strangers far from home turn to them for conversation in those often bleak hours of wakefulness while the rest of the city sleeps. One in the hotel zone on Central Park South, known as Mickey, has become widely known for her soothing voice. She has a list of "regulars" in the hotel and former patrons who call her in moments of dolor, "just to hear her voice."

New York's most astonishingly elderly lady is the mother of Messmore Kendall, capitalist who also owns the Capitol theatre. Most women at 90 who are able to toddle out to a front porch chair are described as "spry." This is no term for Mrs. Kendall. She goes places and does things with a hey nonny nonny and a hi-de-ho. Nobody takes her for more than 60. She makes an excellent fourth at bridge, shoots a good game of golf but thinks it a bother and is a much sought guest for cocktail parties. Although she doesn't drink those modern philtres. Her's is a rip of rye heat.

Kendall's mother only recently managed to stop over on a sail from California in Havana and land kepunk in the middle of a pip of an uprising. She loved it and her son almost had to drag her away by force. She was actually in her 90's when the world war got going. Three weeks later her son heard she was in an ambulance corps and, just so she would not grow laded, became a passenger in the first French bomber. With the armistice, Kendall decided to take the first liner and bring her home. She answered the cable of his proposed arrival with this: "Stay where you are. I enlisted as 43 years of age. You aren't even born yet."

Col. Creighton Webb is another octogenarian wonder and last of the vanishing aristocrats. The bluest of blue bloods, at 81 he is a familiar in the exclusive club lounges. Dines almost nightly in white-tied fastidiousness, dances superbly and appears gallantly on the avenue at promenade time, spruce, gardeniaed and debonaire. An intimate is John Hays Hammond, also in the 80's.

Elegance always makes me think of the neighbor lady in our town who took in the five-day round trip to New York and Niagara Falls. In no time she had everybody at the weekly card club calling our canary-colored depot the "dep-po."

HEALTH

Infection of Finger Nails

DOCTORS LIKE to use big words. One of them is "paronychia," which means "around the nail." It is applied to an infection at the end of the finger, particularly involving the finger nail. It is a common and painful disturbance.

Paronychia, or "run around," as it is often called by laymen, is sometimes traced to neglect of the hands and carelessness in the treatment of trifling injuries and slight tears of the skin. The victim can usually recall having cut or pricked his finger and neglected to apply an antiseptic.

It is dangerous to neglect any break in the skin of the hand. That is just the gateway the watchful germs are waiting for, so that they may enter the tissue and cause infection. An unbroken skin is nature's protection against infections. When it is bruised, cut or torn, certain measures must be taken to guard against the evil effects of bad germs.

Some germs work rapidly, setting up an infection that may lead to serious involvement of the hand. As a result of carelessness and neglect, a finger or even a hand may have to be removed to prevent further spread of the infection. In other cases, repeated operations may become necessary and then there may be deep scar formation and deformity.

Paronychia is usually a simple although painful infection, but it is always a menace to the delicate structures of the fingers. Since it is a common occurrence among children it is always best for all of us to be familiar with its appearance. We should learn what treatment is necessary to prevent spread of the infection. This is important, too, to prevent involvement of the bony structure of the finger.

Children should be taught never to ignore a scratch or tear of the skin of the hand. They should be made to understand that pulling at a hangnail often causes bleeding and infection. This practice is a common cause of paronychia.

Throbbing of the finger is the first sign of infection. The finger soon swells, becoming red and painful. The nail is sore and extremely sensitive to touch.

Let me assure you that salves and ointments are of no value in the treatment of paronychia or other infections of the hand or fingers. The only means of cure is to get rid of the accumulated pus. This is accomplished by a small incision which permits drainage. The sooner this is made the quicker relief is obtained, with the removal of the danger of further spread of the infection.

Guard against these dangers by immediately applying an antiseptic to the injured skin. One of the best of these is iodine. A small bottle should be in every household. A friend of mine who had a chronic form of paronychia got rid of it by applying iodine under the skin at the edges of the nail. She wrapped a bit of cotton around a wooden toothpick, dipped it in iodine and pushed this little tampon tenderly into the fissure. Treatments twice a day for a while overcame the inflammation and tenderness.

OUR READERS

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL AID

Editor, The News:

Extensive publicity and heavy political pressure is being brought forward that the Ohio State legislature appropriate public tax money for the partial support and maintenance of parochial schools owned, controlled and managed for the purpose of propagating Christian faith as interpreted by a branch of the Holy Catholic or Christian church.

Such a step is both dangerous and destructive of principles that both church and state should cherish and uphold. Let us give some reasons:

1. It is unconstitutional. Constitution of Ohio, Article 1—Section 7: "No person shall be compelled to attend, erect, support any place of worship, or maintain any form of worship against his consent and no preference shall be given by law to any religious society." That should settle the issue for every law-abiding American citizen. That is a precious American principle.

2. It will encourage the state to interfere with religious liberty. If the state supports parochial schools, the state will have the right and jurisdiction over what is taught in these schools. The church ought to leave good enough alone. Russia is a fine example of state interference. 3. It will begin a program for the church to meddle with and become entangled in the politics of the state. When church and church leaders become embroiled in politics, there is danger ahead. Jesus said, "My Kingdom is not of this world." Mexico is bleeding and suffering today from such a program, where now persecution is turned against all religion.

4. The experience of other countries should be sufficient to warn us. The New York Sunday News of March 16 says: "The real religious fight in Ontario is between Roman Catholic schools, which are trying to get more money out of the public school tax receipts, and the public schools, which are trying to hold on to it." May our state be preserved from this trouble. May our wisdom and foresight be of the proper kind here.

5. Religious prejudice and antagonisms are sure to be fostered by the suggested movement. Different sections and divisions of the Holy Catholic church should dwell together in confidence and fellowship. The forcing of the religious question into politics creates hatreds and bad animosities.

6. This is favoritism to one faith, one branch of the Holy Catholic church. Only one group of Christians are demanding, insisting and using propaganda for public tax money for their religious parochial schools. Other Christian groups have similar schools and have expressed absolute opposition to the movement, and refusal to accept any public tax money. That is worth noting. Should our state subsidize one faith over against another?

Are these Christian brethren fair to other Christians in asking for this special favor and privilege for themselves and their church?

7. It is false economy now to grant a few millions, when it will be just the beginning of further appropriations. (History is evidence), and the breeder of discontent, dissension and religious barriers in this land of religious liberty and freedom, and impartiality to all Christians.

8. It will weaken the program and work of our public school system. America's greatness rests to a great extent on its public school system. We must not allow any movement to arise to undermine this foundation stone of the past, future, and present progress.

The state department of education at the public hearing of this bill before the senate finance committee gave out this information that the public schools could take on 100,000 pupils without any additional expense and that the remaining number of parochial students up to 70,000 could be also absorbed with small additional expense. This fact is significant.

The supreme court of the State of Ohio in 1872 made the following statement upon a similar question: "True Christianity asks no aid of civil authority. To depend on civil authority is to acknowledge its own weakness, which it can never afford to do. It is able to fight its own battles. A form of religion that cannot live under equal and impartial laws ought to die, and sooner or later must die."

May Ohio show no favoritism or special subsidy to any branch of the Holy Catholic church. May our future religious liberty be preserved.

The Cold Finger Curse

by EDWIN DIAL TORGERSON

SYNOPSIS

During a party at her home, wealthy Mrs. Violet Elderbank is murdered and her jewels stolen. Among the guests were June and Jimmy Kirkman, her neighbors, and their tenants, St. Gregory Valcour, pseudo artist, Glenn Thurber, a newspaper reporter, and dignified Douglas W. Coulter, a statistical expert. Marjorie Clark, Thurber's fiancée and Roger Duane, a specialty dancer, are also present. The crime occurs while the house was in darkness and drums were beating for Roger's Zulu dance. Violet had been summoned to a private telephone in her bedroom. Her maid, Elsie, found her chloroformed and gagged. About that time Price Merriam, Violet's secretary and companion, who operated the lights for Roger's dance, had difficulty in turning them out after having put them out for Roger's entrance. Thurber disappeared during the performance to make a telephone call. Next door, Valcour had come there to get some of his paintings for Elsie. Elsie the maid claims she was busy in the kitchen when the telephone rang, but both Merriam and Cupples, the pugler, state she was not there. According to Cupples the call was from the telegraph office stating it had a message from Montreal for Mrs. Elderbank. A checkup reveals there was no such call but that Glenn Thurber telephoned at 12:21. Thurber emphatically denies this. As he is about to let Darden into his room, Thurber discovers a key is missing. The reporter's fingerprints are found on Mrs. Elderbank's phone. Valcour claims that while he was in his studio getting the pictures, he saw Thurber come in, but did not see him go out again, nor did he hear Thurber telephoning.

CHAPTER XV

"When you came in the front of this house did you notice anybody in the arway, under the stoop?"

Valcour paused warily. "Why, I don't seem to me, Sergeant. It seemed to me at the time I did hear some one."

"Under the stoop, you mean?"

"Yes, sir. Like somebody's foot stepping or something."

"Well what was it? Did you stop to investigate?"

Valcour smiled thinly. "Why, no, sir. I didn't. I figured if there was anybody there it wasn't any friend of mine."

"And it was about ten minutes later when you saw the maid come running down the stairs?"

"Yes, sir. About that."

"If it had been the maid you heard in the arway under the stoop, then, she would have had time to go upstairs the back way, remain five or six minutes up there, and come running down the stairs as she did when you saw her—would she not?"

Valcour's eyes widened. "You suspect that girl, Sergeant?" he queried in a low tone.

"Never mind what I suspect. Answer my question."

"Why, yes, sir. I suppose she would have had time."

The Sergeant questioned Valcour to a considerable extent further, but could elicit nothing more that was useful.

"Well, run along now," bade the Sergeant. "Gosh, it's three o'clock now, and I've got more people to talk to. No—wait a minute," he ordered as Valcour moved toward the door.

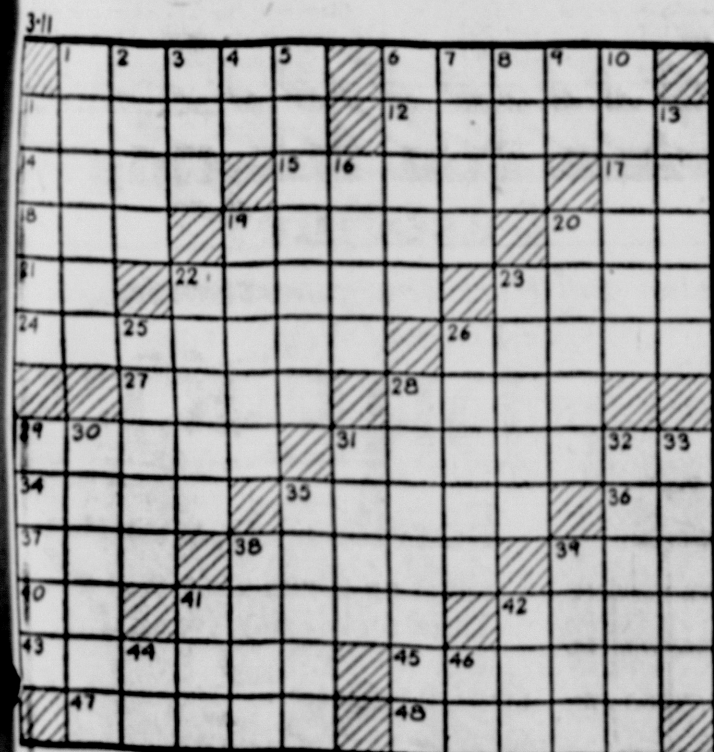

Valcour turned apprehensively. "Haven't I seen you somewhere before, Buddy?" demanded the Sergeant.

"I don't know," quavered Valcour. "Well, never mind, it will come back to me."

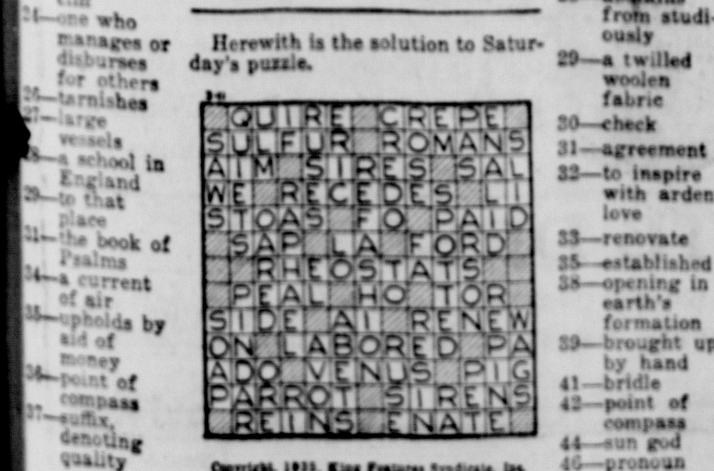

"Unless," said Valcour, trembling, "it was at police headquarters."

State Would Drop Liquidation Job, Legislature Told

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., May 1.—The state banking department will suggest a return of the functions of liquidating closed banks to depositors and creditors to the Ohio legislature this week.

Banks now in the hands of conservators and nearly liquidated would be turned back to a creditor-depositor board of directors with the approval of the banking superintendent and the common pleas court.

Two classes of banks cases would be served by the law. First, it would apply to the small bank which has been liquidated to the extent that further supervision by a conservator would be unduly expensive and second, to the general class of banks where depositors and other creditors take an active interest in the liquidation of the bank's assets and are willing to assume control of the liquidation on the demand of a majority of the creditors in interest.

The proposed law would not apply to banks which possibly will be able to re-open, but would apply only to those which would have to be wiped out entirely.

Rights and liabilities of depositors, creditors and debtors of a bank would not be changed. Samuel H. Squire, superintendent of the banking department, said. The power of liquidation, which the liquidating bank would have, would include all of the powers of which a general corporation in dissolution has with the prospective proviso that the progress of the liquidating proceedings are to be reported to the courts quarterly.

Neither a former stockholder, who has not met the double liability on his old stock in or as a director or debtor of the old institution would be entitled to a place on the liquidating board. The directors would be named by the depositors.

but I waited and let them finish their make-up first because they had to get out into the halls and start their drumming."

"Yeah?" Darden crouched forward aggressively. "Then you've no way of proving that you were in that dressing room between twelve-twenty-five and twelve-forty-five—have you?"

Duane shrugged uneasily. "Why, Mr. Merriam looked in, as I told you."

"Yeah," Darden referred to his notes. "Mr. Merriam looked in at twelve-twenty-five—we've got that checked two ways, son. After that there were twenty minutes when you could have done whatever you wanted to do—slipped upstairs, maybe, slipped back down when the lights went out."

"But why should I," cried Roger impatiently, "want to go slipping up and down stairs?"

"That's what I'm here to find out. How long had you known Mrs. Elderbank?"

Roger subsided resignedly. "Possibly three weeks. She came to the night club where I have been dancing. Mr. Merriam was with her and he came back to ask me, after my dance, whether I might be open for private engagements. I told him I was, provided they did not interfere with my dancing at the club. Then he invited me and Mr. Valcour, who happened to be with me in the dressing room, to come to their table and have a bite to eat or something to drink with them. That is how I met Mrs. Elderbank."

"How often have you seen her since then?"

"Once, at a party next door, about a week ago."

"Hm! Listen, Duane—are you mixed up with that crowd of thieves and gunmen who hang around Barney O'Brien's?"

Roger's large eyes went larger. "Thieves and gunmen? Why, I never heard of any thieves and gunmen around O'Brien's. It seemed a very respectable place to me."

"Oh, it did, eh? How long have you danced there?"

"Eight weeks, counting this week."

"Where before that?"

"Nowhere. I had a tryout for vaudeville, and they admitted I was good, but they wouldn't pay enough to justify a decent act and some drummers for the act."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks sour, don't swallow a lot of salt water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a more movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out thousands of bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in pimples. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes three good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those thousands of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't look for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25¢ at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Voodooism and Its Varied Ceremonials In "Black Moon", Jack Holt Film

"BLACK MOON," which stars Jack Holt, will be shown Thursday night at the State theater. This is a story with voodoo religion as a background, involving a white girl who disregards civilization, love and convention to rule a voodoo cult in the Haiti jungles.

Dorothy Burgess, as the girl who turns to savagery, has the most colorful role of her career. Jack Holt is her bewildered husband and Fay Wray her secretary, who is in love with Holt.

The story tells of a white woman who returns to her native island and becomes the high priestess of a voodoo cult that still engages in blood sacrifices. Holt discovers his wife's dual personality in time to prevent her from sacrificing her own child on a voodoo altar.

A majority of the scenes are laid on a West Indian island close to Haiti and show for the first time in pictures the full voodoo sacrificial ceremonies, accurate in every detail. This was made possible through the technical supervision of Don Taylor, Taylor, a well known explorer, zoologist and author, spent several months in the West Indies doing research work for the New York Zoological gardens, and came in close touch with blood sacrifice, witch doctors and devil magic in Haiti.

Max Scheck, noted dance director, formerly with the famous Drury Lane theater, supervised the impressive Negro ceremonial dances in connection with the picture.

Six-year-old Cora Sue Collins, well known child actress, has one of the principal roles in the picture. She is cast as Jack Holt's daughter.

Salem City Hospital School of Nurses enrolled its first class in 1913. Since then there have been 17 graduating classes. Graduates of the school number 81, many of whom are engaged in private duty and public health work in Salem and nearby communities.

Cooperating with the state and national nursing organizations in attempting to reduce the over-supply of nurses in the United States, this school of nursing did not accept students for three years, but, because there is a need for nurses in the local community, the school was reopened last September. Small classes are being enrolled each year. Students now number nine. A new class will be enrolled next September.

The Salem City Hospital School for Nurses is accredited by the Ohio State Medical board and meets all educational requirements as outlined by the National League of Nursing Education.

An affiliation with Cleveland City hospital is maintained which gives students an opportunity to secure theoretical and practical experience with diseases of children and medical conditions not encountered in the small hospital.

This affiliation enables the school to meet all state requirements and graduates are eligible for state examination for the registered nurse certificate.

Arthur Wilson is superintendent of the hospital and school. The teaching staff is composed of Miss Mary Louise Tracy, educational director; Miss Caroline Weber, day supervisor; Miss Grace Linn, night supervisor; Miss Mary N. Collins, dietitian, and Miss Doris Shoop, bacteriologist and laboratory technician. Lectures are also given by staff physicians.

All departments of the hospital cooperate with the school of nursing in maintaining the highest educational standards of nursing education.

Angina Pectoris Patient Eager To Leave Hospital

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, May 1. — Joseph Krichmar, once near death from Angina Pectoris, is walking around, thumping his chest and worrying about getting home to his family. Krichmar underwent an operation on his heart for the ailment nearly three months ago. Dr. Claude S. Beck, Cleveland surgeon, performed the operation, the first of its kind in medical history.

The surgeon severed the pectoral muscle and fastened it to the heart wall to supply new blood to that organ. He had performed the same operation many other times on animals.

Krichmar is walking around in the corridors of Lakeside hospital now, but he is being kept there under observation. Krichmar says he feels fine and wants to get a job.

"When do I go home?" is his first question whenever he sees Dr. Beck. He has a wife and three children at home.

When Krichmar entered the hospital he was subject to severe pains in the left shoulder and arm and partial paralysis. Hospital attendants told him that he might die within two months if he did not undergo the operation. Krichmar has not had a pain since the operation.

"No more tired, let-down feeling for me"

"I reasoned that my red blood corpuscle strength was low and I simply took a course of S.S.S. Tonic and built it back."

IT is all so simple and reasonable. If your physical let-down is caused by lowered red blood corpuscles—which is all too frequent—then S.S.S. Tonic is waiting to help you... and will, unless you have a serious organic trouble that demands a physician or surgeon.

Remember, S.S.S. is not just a so-called "tonic." It is a tonic specially designed to stimulate gastric secretions, and also has the mineral elements so very, very necessary in rebuilding the oxygen-carrying red corpuscles in the blood.

This two-fold purpose is important. Digestion is improved... food is better utilized... and thus you are enabled to better "carry on" without exhaustion—as you should naturally.

You may have the will-power to be "up and doing" but unless your blood is in top notch form you are not fully yourself and you may remark, "I wonder why I tire so easily."

Let S.S.S. build back your blood tone... if your case is not exceptional, you should soon enjoy again the satisfaction of appetizing food... sound sleep... steady nerves... a good complexion... and renewed strength.

S.S.S. is sold by all drug stores in two sizes. The $2 economy size is twice as large as the $1.25 regular size and is sufficient for two weeks treatment. Begin on the uproad today.

OHIO HIGH SCHOOL coaches are in favor of limiting the number of basketball games a team may play in a season, but they are as far apart as the poles on what that limit should be.

In answer to a questionnaire submitted by H. R. Townsend, high school athletic commissioner, 357 coaches favored a limit on the schedule, while only 50 opposed. But Townsend said today, some of the mentors suggested playing only six contests, while others set the schedule as high as 16. The consensus, however, was around 20, the commissioner said, and that figure will be used as the basis for a ballot by the schools next fall.

The coaches voted to use the national football rules this fall, with four changes in the code. The high schools decided to retain their rule permitting forward passes from any spot behind the line of scrimmage; to provide a penalty for roughing the passer; favored the wearing of headgear throughout the game, and decided to move the ball in 15 yards instead of 10 on out-of-bounds plays.

Additional Schools Enter Sixth Night Relays Here Saturday Night

Officials For Meet Announced Today By Manager W.J. Springer

Sandusky, Ohio Wesleyan Champ, Has Been Invited;
School Officials Prepare For Track Classic
With Improvements Underway

By RAY L. DEAN, Sports Editor

Track and field athletes from leading high schools in this section of Ohio will converge upon Reilly stadium Saturday for the sixth annual Salem Night relays.

Wilbur J. Springer, Salem High principal, manager of the relays, has lined up a splendid array of officials, one of the main essentials of the tournament, and the flood lights have been adjusted at Reilly stadium to give the fans a clear picture of what is going on when the finals Saturday night get under way.

The relays are being held one week later than usual this year to take a safer chance for better weather conditions. Springer said today that the winning contestants of the events will be introduced to the audience immediately after each heat and record of the time announced through the loud speaker amplifiers which will be installed.

Over 27 schools will be entered in the relays. Principal Springer today extended an invitation to Sandusky, winner of the Ohio Wesleyan relay last week, to participate in the local classic. The latest entries are Mansfield, Akron East, Canton McKinley and Cleveland Lincoln. Some doubt still remains about Cleveland Lincoln, however, winner of last year's meet.

Schools already groomed for participation in the relays are: Cleveland Shaw, Alliance, East Palestine, Sebring, Warren, Poland, Ravenna, Leontina, Akron Garfield, Buchtel, South and West, Barberton, Kent Roosevelt, Youngstown Rayen, Cleveland Garfield, Boardman, McDonald, Louisville, Howland and Leesvitsburg.

Attractive individual and team trophies and medals await the winners. A display of the relay awards will be shown in the Ohio Edison windows on East State st. starting tomorrow.

The stellar array of officials for the relays includes the following: Referee: Fred Mullins (Yale), Salem.

Starter: F. B. Thomas (Olympic competitor in 1920), Akron.

Clerk: Davey Williams (Newberry), Youngstown.

Head finish judge: Jerry Ensign (Ohio Wesleyan), Cleveland.

Finish judge: George Nickel (Milwaukee Normal), Warren; Glen Hardy, Akron; George Porter, Lisbon; Lester Kille, Salem, and Cy Woolcock (former Akron East coach), Akron.

Head timer: Joe Kelley (Kenyon), Salem. Other timers: Fred Paxson, Salem; Charles Felton, Lisbon, and Herb Brown (Ohio State), Salem. High case coach: Judge of rights: Marion Conkle (Ohio U.), Canton. Other weight judges: Bob Van Blaricom, Salem; Kenneth Kracker (Wisconsin), Warren, and Bob Pittigrew, Ohio State athlete who is an expert at the javelin.

Pittigrew, incidentally, will give an exhibition of javelin throwing during the meet. The Ohio State star is ineligible to compete with the Buckeyes this season, having just transferred from Colgate university.

Feoter: Fred Schuller (Cedarville), Youngstown.

Head judge of jumps: Bill Roush, Salem.

Head track inspector: Larry Brown (Mount Union), Ravenna. Other track inspectors: Rev. Herbert Thompson, Mike Schuller, Salem and Harold Walker.

Announcer: Russell Jones of Salem.

Custodian of awards: Coach Lew Smith.

Relays manager: High School Principal Wilbur J. Springer, assistant, Track Coach Fred Cope.

A few changes have been made in the relay rules this season, most important of which is the one requiring that all contestants must report to the clerk of courts at the stadium prior to each event.

Preliminaries starting at 2 p. m. Saturday will be open to the public free of charge. Evening admission fees for final events will be 25 and 35 cents, Springer announced.

Only officials and runners will be allowed on the field in order to keep the grounds clear for contestants.

Ohio high school athletic association rules will be adhered to for the relays. The events will be run off as follows:

Bush-Jurges Suspended After Cubs-Pirates 'Riot'

Guy Bush, ex-Cub pitcher exploded his hasty southern temper in the fifth inning of Monday's game at Wrigley field in Chicago, after one of his new Pirate mates, Lavagetto, and Bill Jurges had engaged in fistfights. Members of the Pirates are shown above in a remarkable action "shot" subduing the infuriated pitcher. The Cubs rallied for ten runs in the eighth inning, following the outburst, to win the series opener, 12 to 11.

Jurges of the Cubs and Bush of the Pirates were notified of their suspension by Ford C. Frick, president of the National League, following the fight in the fifth inning of yesterday's game between the Cubs and Pirates. The above photo shows the "Mississippi Mudcat" down, but not for the count. His teammates have wrestled the former Cub, now a bold, bad Pirate, to the ground, but he wants to get up for more action against his former companions. There are a few Cubs watching Guy's clubmates overpowering him to prevent another outburst.

DODGER-GIANT FEUD STILL ON

Bill Terry Finds Brooklyn Fans Still Peeved
From Last Year

By EDWARD J. NEIL

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, May 1.—The Hatfields and McCoys of baseball, Memphis Bill Terry and Gowanus Casey Stengel, may have settled their feud to their own personal satisfaction, but there is no calling off the frenzied faithful of Brooklyn.

It looks as if the boys who buy the pastebards never will forget or forgive the fact that in an unguarded moment more than a year ago Terry quipped "are the Dodgers still in the league?"

Even belting the Giants out of last year's pennant hasn't saved the outraged Brooklyn pride.

The Giants crossed the Brooklyn bridge and the Gowanus canal yesterday for the first time since the 1934 debacle, and the greeting Terry and his men got from the 17,000 flatbushers would have warmed the hearts of survivors of the old Giants' feuds with the Chicago Cubs. There must be something to it, because the Dodgers won a ball game as wild as the setting, 12 to 5.

The boys heaved cannon crackers out of the stands, howling with delight as the cardboard bombs burst about Giant trousers. They called them Brooklyn greeting cards. One nearly blew staid Tom Clark off the first base coaching line.

Terry, the principal target, shook hands with Stengel for photographs by home plate yesterday, and the 17,000 stood and roared in outraged union.

"Don't shake hands with that bum!"

TUCSON, Ariz., May 1.—Government officials indicated today that the actual kidnaping of six-year-old June Robles is dead.

As department of justice agents prepared today to present evidence to a federal grand jury on the kidnaping of the little girl a year ago, a government source which would not be quoted directly indicated that statements made by a man now dead led to what the department of justice believes is a complete solution of the case.

The grand jury has not been given the evidence in the case yet.

Connecticut Marks Tercentenary

Nation-wide interest has been aroused by elaborate plans nearing completion for the celebration of Connecticut's tercentenary this summer and fall. Two factors make the event one of national significance. Many families trace their history back to the "Nutmeg" state. Connecticut also has the distinction of having been the first state to have drawn up a written constitution. Rev. Thomas Hooker was the fearless divine who championed people's rights and helped to model the document which has since been the pattern for many states in their government. Hartford, state capital, and New Haven, home of Yale university, are the principal cities of the state.

strength and talent as Almighty God gave us.

"We were a people that was important because we were disunited. That made us play ball with foreign nations. Small states could cause humiliation upon us and deprive our citizens of their rights. Our economic life was ruined. All that once had seemed good had become bad.

A New People Now

"But now we have become a new people. Great ages always result from strong leadership, but the best of leadership must fail if there is not behind a united, strong people. Our strength lies not in tanks, cannon and marching battalions, but in the unity of our people and its idealistic faith.

"In 1929 we started a small group deemed as idealistic fanatics. Our critics are proven to have been wrong. Historically, visible success always proves the correctness of theories.

"No one can deny that there are visible one people and one idea. All we see today would be impossible if Germany had not experienced an inner transportation. That we could unify our people is the greatest accomplishment of this century as far as Germany is concerned and will outlast everything else.

"We shall not rest until we give to the last German his daily bread. Remember, May 1 is the day of decision against the difficulties which still are to be overcome. What we want is not war, not unrest.

Wants Peace Ahead

"Just as we restored peace within Germany, we want peace abroad, because only then can our domestic works be a success. May other nations understand that the Germany of today is not the Germany of yesterday.

"Therefore, fellow citizens, I ask you to bind faster the band of the community. Do not forget that your members are one people as ordained by God. Demonstrate to the world your faith in your people and state. My will must be your confusion. I agree my people with my life."

ROTARY, KIWANIS CLUBS CONVENE

Address, Music On Respective Programs At Columbiana

COLUMBIANA, May 1.—Rev. W. A. Gramlich, pastor of the Petersburg Lutheran church, gave an interesting talk Monday evening at the meeting of the Columbiana Rotary club, held in the American Legion hall. His subject was "Snakes."

Rev. Gramlich has made a study of snakes and brought out many points that were unknown to his listeners. Of the 2,399 various species of snakes throughout the world, only about 250 are really poisonous, said Rev. Gramlich. Of these, only four species found in this country are poisonous. These are the 22 varieties of rattlesnakes, two of quail snakes, the copperhead and the watersnake. He told of the family life and habits of reptiles and what to do if bitten.

Some Are Man's Friends

He urged that the non-venomous types not be killed, stating that they are really man's friends, as they destroy many bugs, worms and vermin that would otherwise cause much damage, particularly to farmers. At the conclusion of his talk, Rev. Gramlich answered a number of questions. He was introduced by Rev. C. E. Krumm, Principal of the Petersburg schools accompanied Rev. Gramlich to the meeting.

The club members have been invited to attend the Wednesday noon luncheon of the Youngstown club, at which Admiral William S. Sims of the United States navy will be speaker. Next week's meeting will be held in the Legion hall.

Kiwans Meet

The Columbiana Kiwanis club met Monday evening in the K. of P. hall with 32 members and 10 guests present. The guests were Kiwanians from Salem, who presented the program. Byron Maxson, president of the Salem club introduced Max Berg, violinist, who played a group of solos accompanied by Cecil Gordon of Warren. Madeline Polley, baritone soloist, sang a group of songs with violin and piano accompaniment. Bert Sweet, Akron, entertained with sleight-of-hand performances. President C. W. Dewalt presided. The meeting place for next week will be announced later.

Mrs. Wick Fry returned home Sunday from the Cleveland Clinic hospital, where she had spent several days for observation and treatment. She will return to Cleveland shortly for further observation.

Miss Edith Berchold is spending several weeks with relatives and friends in Beaver Falls and N. H. Brighton, Pa.

The Columbiana High school track team is sponsoring a picture show Friday evening in the school auditorium in an attempt to raise funds to care for track expenses.

Four Join Legion Band

At the regular meeting of the Columbiana American Legion band Monday evening, four new members were voted into membership: Robert Forbes, Jack Poulton, Glen Long and Robert Williamson, the latter of Greenford. This brings the band's membership up to 42. Other vacancies will be admitted as needed instruments are available.

The Richardson Tires, local independent baseball team, will open the season at 3:30 p. m. Sunday at Airport field. A large crowd turned out last Sunday, but the Beaver Falls Independents, who had been scheduled, failed to appear for the game.

Harry Dill, Jr., made a business trip to Columbus Monday.
